

ATTEMPT TO WRECK PAS- SENGER TRAIN

Mr. George Bright, our old time fishing companion, reports to us that he was coming up the railroad track Sunday evening from looking at his lines, when near Goose creek culvert he discovered two brake shoes carefully fastened to each rail of the Hocking Valley track. The north bound passenger train was due, and he labored swiftly to loose the obstruction and save the train harmless. It is no doubt but that his fortunate discovery of the dastardly attempt prevented a disastrous wreck. He reported his find to the company, and they are using vigilance to find the culprits.

Wellston Tennis Meet.

To Rev. Herald, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Wellston, is due the credit for the tennis enthusiasm which pervades that city. He has been instrumental in organizing a Tennis Club of about 80 members. The ladies of the club have been practicing and coached by Rev. Herald so that he had great reason to be proud of their playing this season, and desiring to give them the advantage of playing with foreign talent, arranged a tournament between six Logan and six Wellston ladies, August 30th and 31st. Only five, however, went from Logan, the Misses Lucy and Mary Bowen, Mame Campbell, Florence Bright and Emma McLain.

Six events were played on Friday afternoon, and three on Saturday morning. The weather was fair, though warm and oppressive, but all the players proved to be in good form, enduring well the heat and violent exercise. The Logan ladies came off with the laurels, having won seven events out of the nine.

The visitors were royally entertained at the homes of the Wellston players, who took their defeat with rare good sense and humor. An informal reception was given on Friday evening at the home of Miss Della Voglesang where the guests were entertained by a male quartette and other music, Miss Campbell, of Logan, having a place on the program.

Following is a score of the games. There being only five ladies from Logan, Miss Lucy Bowen appeared in two singles and Miss McLain in two doubles, the others each having one single and one double.

Florence Bright	6-3-10
Gretta Goddard	3-6-8

Richard Mansfield Dead.

New London, Conn., Aug. 30.—Richard Mansfield died this morning.

Some time ago he suffered a nervous collapse and has been reported dying several times.

Although he had been broken down in health for many months, his sudden end was not expected. He appeared to be getting somewhat better the last few days, but last night began to sink and early to-day passed away, with his wife and brother, Felix, at his side.

The great Thespian's end was a peaceful one. All of the eccentricities which have marked his long successful career seemed to disappear in an instant. He was conscious of what was going on around him and after a few cheerful words dropped back on his bed from a reclining posture and gasped his last.

A FROST TO STATE FAIR EXHIBITORS.

All exhibitors at the State Fair here-to-fore have been given a large crowd of people to make good the expense they have been to in making display without any expense to State Board of Agriculture until this year. The Monday crowd was practically nothing as compared with other years, thus lessening the opportunity of advertising their business, which is the chief aim of every exhibitor. Further many exhibitors have simply remained away on account of the excessive price for space, and the result is space that has been filled to its utmost capacity is vacant, giving the ground as well as the exhibitor a desolate appearance. Exhibitors are not slow in expressing their attitude in the future, thus leaving their space in halls, etc., to be supplied in future years by some plan devised by "State Board" and at their expense. Many of out-of-town exhibitors take great pains in advertising in their local town, inviting their home people to be at the "Great Fair" and make "their Booth" their headquarters while on the grounds, but with the out-of-town exhibition at home, with no interest in the fair will remain at home, and simply say, "If the management don't want us there we can advertise some other way at less expense."

We have been intelligently informed that about 80 car loads of machinery is short this year as compared to former years, thus cutting off the general appearance of the grounds, and less interest taken by visitors to see what is there as halls are not filled up as usual, thus making visitors feel that the management has been at fault.

Lion to Hunt Delinquent.

Hon. George W. Ashbrook, congressman-elect from the Seventeenth district, has gone into the lion business.

Ashbrook, besides being a statesman, is also an editor, sitting on the tripod of the Johnstown Independent, and recently organized an excursion to the Jamestown exposition. The affair was managed by Col. Clark Doughty, the Ohio Cook of the personally conducted excursion stunt, and while at the exposition they presented with a pair of lion cubs whelped at the Ferrari show on the grounds.

The cubs, with their new owners, Ashbrook and Doughty, flanked on either side by William Ferrari and James Bostock, the famous animal trainer and exhibitor, were then photographed and it only required a section of a krall and a bit of veldt to imagine the combination hailed from Bloomfontein.

What they will do with the lions is the question with Ashbrook and Doughty. It has been suggested that Ashbrook keep them to hunt down delinquent subscribers in the wilds of Lick county.

Operated Upon Himself.

Jack Swain, an aged carpenter employed by Contractor Andrew Smith, performed a rather remarkable surgical operation upon himself one day last week. While engaged at work he accidentally cut his foot with an adz, inflicting a severe gash. He then took an ordinary needle and black thread and proceeded to "mend" the cut. He then wrapped up the injury and returned to work. The cut healed rapidly and is now about well—no septic poisoning appearing and but little inconvenience being suffered.—Eaton Democrat.

Memoirs of "Scrappy" Jones.

[LaCrosse (Wis.) Leader-Press.]

"Twas a great day on the ball yard, And the fans turned out in force, And they shouted and they shouted, Until all of them were hoarse. Mothers left their children, And fathers left their homes, For all went to the ball yard To see the mighty "Scrappy" Jones. See! The crowd surges forward, As the Mighty Sox take their place, For to see a glimpse of "Scrappy." As he starts to play first base, And still the bands are playing, And still the children shout, It's a great day on the ball yard When "Scrappy" Jones gets out. The game had just got started, The umpire shouted "play," And the fans were down in history. And marked one eventful day. The pitcher never will forget The first ball that he tossed To the great and mighty "Scrappy." Whose shirt was marked "LaCrosse." The day that I just mentioned, The bases they were full; And the fans were down from shouting, To give the boys a pull. "Who's up?" the crowd was shouting, Then with a smile set down to wait; Four runs came in that inning—'Twas "Scrappy" at the plate. Now, how about that nickname? Was it fighting? Never. No, For in all his long baseball career, He never struck a blow. But "Scrappy" he would argue, With anyone he'd meet. From the umpire on the ball yard To the newboys on the street. Now the fans are sad and gloomy, They all seem out and down; There's a sort of can't forget him Since "Scrappy" left the town. For everyone loved "Scrappy," Even children in their homes—When they said their prayers at bed-time Would remember "Scrappy" Jones.

Tax Payer Wants Arches.

Logan, Ohio, Sept. 2, 1907.

Mr. Editor:—Dear Sir.

We see a great deal in our Papers about a "Greater Logan" and there is considerable talk among our people on that line which is very encouraging for our beautiful City. Now why would it not be possible for us to pattern a little after Columbus by erecting at least three Electric Arches across Main Street, one at the City Building, one at the Court House and one at the Opera House corners. As it is at the present time we have a light at each one of these places mentioned which I understand we pay in the neighborhood of one hundred dollars a year for each one. Arches may cost a little more, if so I believe our business men would be willing to chip in a little toward extra expenses, if not there would hardly be any objection if we tax payers had to pay a little more as we would have something we could all be proud of and really show that Logan is indeed the Queen City of this Valley.

Death of an Infant.

On Friday the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Starcher died.

This was a sad blow to the young parents, it being their first born, in which they had placed much hope. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon from their home on Front street, Rev. Wilson officiating. A host of friends of the young couple regret deeply their loss.

Will sell for $40 cash. Good chance for a club to get an outfit complete. Reason for selling, "need the money." Apply at this office.

Mrs. George Hansel, of Dupont, Ind., accompanied by her son and daughter, are visiting relatives and friends in Logan and vicinity. This is Mrs. Hansel's first visit to Hocking county in 22 years, she having been absent that long.

On Monday morning, lightning struck the home of John Rish, near Enterprise, and tore down a chimney. No material damage was done. Also the same morning lightning struck the house of Mr. Jacob Schein, near Gibsonville, and done very little damage. One year ago, Mr. Schein had a barn burned by lightning.

In the Cincinnati Enquirer write-up of the big Commercial Travelers meeting at that city Tuesday at which Col. W. J. Bryan was the principal speaker, it is chronicled that our own townsman and prominent candidate for alderman, H. E. Rose, of Logan, was one of the honor guests on that auspicious occasion in the Queen City.

We learn from the Columbus Dispatch of Thursday, of last week, that Mr. Arthur Wilson, a printer, formerly of Logan, son of A. H. Wilson, has been confined to the Insane hospital. He was working on the Dispatch and also retouching in the evenings at one of the photo galleries. He has a wife and two children. His many friends in Logan deplore this sad circumstance.

Am closing out my Chester White Hogs. 2 male hogs, 1 brood sow, registered.
